

Here comes the most radiant bride!

The wedding march strikes up, the congregation turns around - and all eyes are on the bride. It may just be your closest friends and family looking at you on the most important day of your life, but you'll want to be looking your best nonetheless!

That's where skincare and beauty specialist Virginia Williams can come to your assistance, with her friendly, personalised bridal beauty treatment and advice service in leafy South Woodford. "A bridal beauty plan is a must, and so is the right skincare regime," says Virginia. She recommends thinking about your skin up to eight months ahead of the wedding.

To get the ball rolling, why not sign up for her in-depth one-2-one consultation, costing only £30? Here, you can discuss your beauty requirements, concerns and goals in a peaceful and confidential environment. "The bride-to-be will gain valuable beauty advice and tips that she will continue to use long after her wedding day," Virginia adds.

The 30-minute consultation includes a comprehensive questionnaire, a skin scan, facial analysis and full body analysis, all focussing on the skin and areas which need the most attention. Virginia then devises the best possible treatment plan to meet the bride's requirements, needs and timescale. This plan is then e-mailed or sent by post.

Brides who opt for the Finale and Finishing Touches Package in readiness for the big day itself - a fantastic four-hour pampering session, including facial, massage, manicure and pedicure, as well as champagne and nibbles - will have the cost of their initial consultation deducted from the bill. Go on, treat yourself!
